The Software provided hereunder might also contain encryption, which will be subject to particularly strict U.S. and Canadian export restrictions that limit Licensee's rights of use specifically set forth in this Agreement. In the event Licensee obtains the Company's prior written consent to relocate the Software to a location outside the U.S. and Canada, Licensee will be solely responsible for complying with the applicable export controls and will indemnify and hold the Company harmless from any liability or expense that may result as a failure of Licensee to comply with such export controls.
